PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Welcome everyone to the 2nd edition of Arcus for the year that is passing us by very quickly.

At the Queensland Chapter Management Committee (CMC) we had a slight delay on the delivery of the first technical meeting for the year. So, I will echo my message from the last edition by announcing our first Technical meeting will take place on 4th April at the Institute of Architecture Auditorium.

The CMC has been discussing the possibility of categorizing the Awards for the end of 2018 annual dinner and new ways of presenting these award on the night. We have come up with some exciting new ideas that have been presented to the National Board for discussion.

The Lighting society in Queensland is a small but active society where pretty much everyone knows each other. In case you are wondering as an architect, engineer or a professional why you are receiving this monthly newsletter, we have close relationships with other societies who appreciate lighting and work with lighting designers like the Australian Institute of Architects.

To know more about the Illuminating Engineering Society of Australia and New Zealand, please visit our website at <https://www.iesanz.org/> . Feel free to drop us a line or a call.

As always, please don't forget about our social media platforms:

Thank you,

Andrew Chase
Queensland Chapter President

APRIL TECHNICAL MEETING

The IESANZ QLD Chapter welcomes members and non-members to “Aprils” Technical meeting.

“REFLECTION AND NETWORKING LUNCH”

The IESANZ QUEENSLAND Chapter is proud to present the Excellence Winners for 2017.

Come and join us for an informative Lunch time presentation with Ash Douthwaite from Point of View TDLD “Hummingbird House” and Adam Wildman from Alma Lighting “Lighting a monumental Qld feature without power, in the surf”

Each presenter will have photos and slides to display their work, describe the challenges that they worked through, and have time for questions.

This is sure to be a learning experience we can all benefit from and find out what makes those Awards of Excellence shine.

Time: 12.00 for 12.15 Start - Wednesday 4th April at Australian Institute of Architects (AIA)

70 Merivale Street South Brisbane.

Food and Beverages will be provided.
