FROM THE PRESIDENT

Welcome all members to the February instalment of Arcus for 2024

Well the year has started and 2024 is well underway now. I'm hoping that all of you attended the awards night on the 10th of November enjoyed themselves and got to reconnect with old friends and colleagues.

As mentioned on the night this event is where we get together in an industry to celebrate the work of the very best of our lighting community.

Congratulations to those who received awards from our judging panel. For those who were unable to attend the same I shall attempt to cover off those who received awards.

The list was as follows:

LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT

Fellow Gillian Isoardi

The IES Lifetime Achievement Award is a prestigious recognition for individuals whose work has significantly impacted educational research over their careers. It honors those who have dedicated themselves to enhancing education through persistent inquiry and innovative approaches.

Award recipients are renowned for their contributions that have advanced understanding in education, influencing practices and policies. Their careers exemplify a commitment to the betterment of education through sustained research efforts, offering insights that have helped shape effective teaching and learning strategies.

This award appreciates the lifelong dedication of these individuals to education and their role in mentoring emerging researchers. It highlights their significant achievements in the field and their influence on educational standards and outcomes.

The IES Lifetime Achievement Award stands as a tribute to those who have not only excelled in their academic pursuits but have also made lasting contributions to education at large. It celebrates the enduring impact of their work, inspiring future generations to pursue excellence in educational research with integrity and a commitment to improving learning for all.

In recognizing these achievements, we also emphasize the core values of educational research: a steadfast commitment to evidence-based insights and a drive to foster educational progress. This award represents a career that has made a meaningful difference, encouraging a continued pursuit of knowledge and innovation in education.
